

Saturday BDH Qualifier (17-10-26)

○ 4:23 Southwell

THE NEW BAY PEARL (S Whitaker)

Noted when running 5th at Redcar (9th Sept) from a poor draw...

'This 4yo was the first home of those that raced on the far side of the track, and she 'won' her side of the draw by a clear 1.25L, with another 1.25L back to the next runner home from the low numbers... unfortunately, those drawn in the top half and racing on the near side of the track held the advantage here and she was very much undone by her low draw...

She's still a maiden after 15 career starts but she's run well on both her last 2 starts now, both runs where she's started as fav, and she does look on the verge of breaking her duck sooner rather than later... indeed with a better draw she could very well have been winning this, giving how comfortably she won her side of the draw...

She's on a career low mark at present and it would be disappointing should she not find herself in the winners' enclosure on coming starts...'

Thoughts...

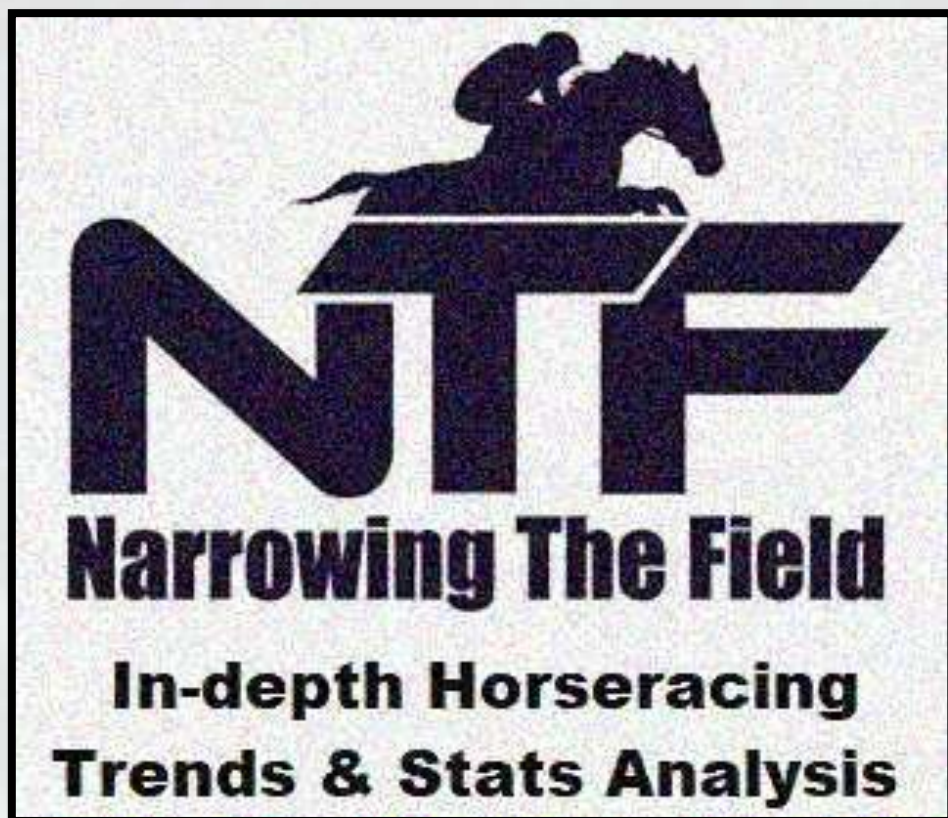

A switch to the A/W for the mare here and she did run well on her 1 previous start at Southwell, finishing 0.75L 2nd in a 7f Novice last year...

New Bay offspring do also tend to go well at the track...

New Bay Fillies | Southwell (A/W) 7f-1m3f | Carrying 9-07 to 9-0 = 10/30 | 33% S/R | +£177.50 – W&P 18/30 | 60% S/R

...stats THE NEW BAY PEARL meets here...

...and I'm happy to play THE NEW BAY PEARL here...

www.narrowingthefield.co.uk